Japanese "impenetrable silence" reduces English comment on the events at the seat of war to a minimum. As press dispatches from St. Petersburg have continuously pointed out, every development now lies with the Japa nese, in whose hands is the initiative.

In view of the continued silence from the quarter which alone can throw light on the tense situation, the English critics satisfy themselves by St. Paul, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Sarah Stev- forecasting an impending great battle ens, seventy years old, the widow of at Mukden or its vicinity. Esopus, N. Y., Sept. 9.-Alton B. Parker Thursday received pledges of loyal support from editors of more than 200 Democratic newspapers representing chiefly the Middle West and South. The editors came in a special train from New York to Hyde Park, crossing thence in the excursion steamer St. John's, on which they afterwards had luncheon and returned to New York. The speeches were delivered at the edges of the Rosemount veranda After the speeches an informal reception was held. The weather was perfect, though warm, until just as the boat was leaving, when the wind shifted from a gentle southwest breeze to a northwesterly gale, the temperaure took a sudden drop, and one of the sharpest thunder storms of the season swept down the valley. Upon the arrival of the boat the editors marched up to Rosemount, headed by the Seventh New York regiment band, which played "Hail to the Chief" as

The Russians three weeks ago. It covered nearly a mile of available marching space. The explosive was placed at the bottom. Rocks were placed next, and on top of these clay was packed so carefully that the ground gave the impression of not having been disturbed. The indications of Japanese activity in this vicinity put the Russians on guard. Near midnight the outposts rushed in and reported that the Japanese were approaching. The Russians withheld their fire for some time. Suddenly they threw a searchlight up the valley. The Japanese opened with a rifle fire. The Russians waited until apparently the whole Japanese column was in the danger zone. Then the mine was exploded. #### THAT IMPENETRABLE SILENCE. Reduces English Comment on the War to a Minimum.

London, Sept. 9.—What is termed Japanese "impenetrable silence" reduces English comment on the events at the seat of war to a minimum. As press dispatches from St. Petersburg have continuously pointed out, every development now lies with the Japanese, in whose hands is the initiative. In view of the continued silence from the quarter which alone can throw light on the tense situation, the English critics satisfy themselves by St. Paul, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Sarah Stev- forecasting an impending great battle ens, seventy years old, the widow of at Mukden or its vicinity. They have practically given up, however, the nan, and a venerable actress in "Way illusion current prior to and during Down East," died at the city hospital the first stages of the Liaoyang contest that any degree of finality is likely to be attached to this prophesied engagement.

The fanatical disregard for death displayed on both sides, and the ability to keep an army in being, either from offensive or defensive point of view, and under conditions regarded as prohibitive, has done more to convince the English press of the desperate character of the struggle being waged in the far East than all the dispatches that have emanated from Tokio or St. Petersburg, declaring that

Interesting Military Problem Confronts Blue and Brown Armies.

Gainesville, Va., Sept. 9.-General Grant, commanding the blue army, has taken up a strong position behind Bull Run. This fact has not yet been ascertained by General Bell, commanding the attacking brown army. This advance along the Wellington Pike was harrassed just west of Pagetland Lane by the First brigade of General Grant's army under General Wint. General Bell opposed this force with his First brigade under General Lee. Taking this as his adversary's center, te threw the brigades of Barry, Wint and Wrenn to the right, seemingly in an effort to get around the right wing of the brown army. When nightfall came this had not been accomplished, owing to the distance the main body of the blue army was behind its advance guard, or Wint's brigade.

General Grant took this position in order that it might be as easy as possible for his reinforcements, which are on the way to join him. His position is not what General Bell evidently hill and Division hill, met a frightful has calculated on in ordering his turning movements. The situation to be developed today, when the maneuver mine was successfully laid by the ends, is one of exceeding interest. For this reason General Bell's army is yet fully two miles from the main position of his adversary, and his advance is being opposed by a single brigade. The delay of the march to the positions until 9 o'clock Thursday is a matter of complaint on the part of the brown troops, for as many as 100 prostrations from the heat have been reported among the brown troops, who were compelled to move in the middle of the day.

DEMOCRATIC SCRIBES CALL ON THEIR CANDIDATE AT ROSEMOUNT.

Esopus, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Alton B. Parker Thursday received pledges of loyal support from editors of more than 200 Democratic newspapers representing chiefly the Middle West and South. The editors came in a special train from New York to Hyde Park, crossing thence in the excursion steamer St. John's, on which they afterwards had luncheon and returned to New York. The speeches were delivered at the edges of the Rosemount veranda. After the speeches an informal reception was held. The weather was perfect, though warm, until just as the boat was leaving, when the wind shifted from a gentle southwest breeze to a northwesterly gale, the temperature took a sudden drop, and one of the sharpest thunder storms of the season swept down the valley. Upon the arrival of the boat the editors marched up to Rosemount, headed by the Seventh New York regiment band, which played "Hail to the Chief" as they reached the house. Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., introduced Charles W. Knapp of St. Louis, as spokesman for the editors. Mr. Knapp was warmly applauded as he rose, and facing Mr. Parker, delivered his address.

Mr. Knapp pledged to Judge Parker the support of the papers whose editors he represented, and he said the editors were inspired anew by the attitude of their candidate.

It was some time before the applause following Mr. Knapp's speech subsided enough for Mr. Parker to make his reply.

Judge Parker criticised the present national administration and compared recent Republican rule with that of President Cleveland, to the disadvantage of the former, from his point of

CORPSES HORRIBLY MANGLED

LEGS AND ARMS OF THE HAPLESS VICTIMS ARE BLOWN FROM THEIR BODIES.

Chefoo, Sept. 9.-A Japanese column, numbering approximately 700 men, while marching along at night on a road in the valley between Long hill and Division hill, met a frightful disaster through the explosion of an electric land mine on Sept. 12. The mine was successfully laid by the Russians three weeks ago. It covered nearly a mile of available marching space. The explosive was placed at the bottom. Rocks were placed next, and on top of these clay was packed so carefully that the ground gave the impression of not having been disturbed. The indications of Japanese activity in this vicinity put the Russians on guard. Near midnight the outposts rushed in and reported that the Japanese were approaching. The Russians withheld their fire for some time. Suddenly they threw a searchlight up the valley. The Japanese opened with a rifle fire. The Russians waited until apparently the whole Japanese column was in the danger zone. Then the mine was exploded. The force of the explosion knocked a number of Russians down and the sight of Japanese rifles, water bottles, legs and arms hurtling through the lighted space made by a searchlight was an awful spectacle. Some rocks dent Roosevelt Thursday presented to landed inside the Russian lines. There which the garrison itself was stunned hillsides strewn with dead. The following day the Russians buried the dead, but, owing to their dismembered and mutilated condition, the Russians were unable accurately to estimate the number of killed. A few Japanese escaped, however. On the nights of Aug. 26 and 27, a similar disaster befell the Japanese Having been informed they near Redoubt No. 2, it is reported, but no details have been ascertained.

THAT IMPENETRABLE SILENCE.

Reduces English Comment on the War to a Minimum.

London, Sept. 9.-What is termed Japanese "impenetrable silence" reduces English comment on the events at the seat of war to a minimum. As press dispatches from St. Petersburg have continuously pointed out, every development now lies with the Japanese, in whose hands is the initiative.

In view of the continued silence from the quarter which alone can throw light on the tense situation, the English critics satisfy themselves by St. Paul, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Sarah Stev- forecasting an impending great battle ens, seventy years old, the widow of at Mukden or its vicinity. They have the champion pugilist, John C. Hee- practically given up, however, the illusion current prior to and during the first stages of the Liaoyang contest that any degree of finality is likely to be attached to this prophesied en-

The fanatical disregard for death displayed on both sides, and the ability to keep an army in being, either from offensive or defensive point o view, and under conditions regarded as prohibitive, has done more to convince the English press of the desperate character of the struggle being waged in the far East than all the dispatches that have emanated from Calvin S. Stewart of Kenosha was Tokio or St. Petersburg, declaring that will ever give in. In place of endeavoring to follow the minute progress of the campaign, this morning's newspapers somewhat hopelessly devote editorials preparing the formerly pastor of Tremont Temple. English public to be witnesses that the war will be longer drawn out and more terrible in every respect than any within recent centuries.

WILL VISIT THE NORTHWEST. Senator Fairbanks Will Make a Tour to the Pacific Coast.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Senator Charles W. Fairbanks will go on a speaking tour to the Pacific the latter part of September. He will go out over the Northern Pacific by special train, and she was built in 1870. She registered return by a special over the Union Pacific, landing in Omaha not later than Oct. 12. Rear platform speeches will mark the trip, though several stops will be made for large evening meet-

> Senator Fairbanks will arrive in Chicago Sept. 23, and that night will go to St. Paul. He will pass the following day as the guest of the Roosevelt Republican clubs of the Twin Cities. That afternoon or evening he will speak in Minneapolis or St. Paul.

Departing that night, the senator will go to North Dakota. Rear platform speeches will mark the first day and the fore part of the second in

From Montana he will go through Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Northern California.

Stopping only a day in San Francisco, the Eastern trip will be undertaken. The first stop will be made at Carson City, Nev. The senator may speak in Ogden and Salt Lake City. He will visit Cheyenne, and then go through Nebraska for a big meeting in Omaha. The remainder of the time will be spent in the Middle West.

MANE JVERS NEARLY ENDED.

Interesting Military Problem Confronts Blue and Brown Armies.

Gainesville, Va., Sept. 9.—General Grant, commanding the blue army, has taken up a strong position behind Bull Run. This fact has not yet been ascertained by General Bell, commanding the attacking brown army. This advance along the Wellington Pike was harrassed just west of Pagetland Lane by the First brigade of General Grant's army under General Wint. General Bell opposed this force with his First brigade under General Lee. Taking this as his adversary's center, threw the brigades of Barry, Wint and Wrenn to the right, seemingly in an effort to get around the right wing of the brown army. When nightfall came this had not been accomplished, owing to the distance the main body of the blue army was behind its advance guard, or Wint's brigade. General Grant took this position in order that it might be as easy as possible for his reinforcements, which are on the way to join him. His position is not what General Bell evidently has calculated on in ordering his turning movements. The situation to be developed today, when the maneuver ends, is one of exceeding interest. For this reason General Bell's army is yet fully two miles from the main position of his adversary, and his advance is being opposed by a single brigade. The delay of the march to the positions until 9 o'clock Thursday is a matter of complaint on the part of the brown troops, for as many as 100 prostrations from the heat have been reported among the brown troops, who were compelled to move in the middle of the day.

MOULTON IS GRAND MASTER. Illinois Man Elected Head of the

Knights Templars. San Francisco, Sept. 9.-With the exception of the members of the Grand Encampment, who held two business sessions, the visiting Knights Templars devoted Thursday to pleasure.

The following officers were elected: Grand master, George M. Moulton. Illinois; deputy grand master, Henry W. Rugg, Rhode Island; generalissimo, William B. Melish, Ohio; captain general, Frank H. Thomas, Washington; senior warden. Arthur McArthur, New York; junior warden, W. Frank Pierce, California; recorder, J. A. Grow, Michigan, re-elected; treasurer, H. Wales Yines, Connecticut, re-elected. The following officers were appointed: Grand warden, Edward W. Wellington; grand standard bearer, William H. Norris; grand sword bearer, G. W. Orr.

Overcome by Gas.

Yankton, S. D., Sept. 9.—Frank Culbertson, single, aged thirty-five, is dead here. He was overcome by gas in a cespool at W. F. Lawrence's residence. Lawrence was also overcome, but will recover.

DEMOCRATIC SCRIBES CALL ON THEIR CANDIDATE AT ROSEMOUNT.

Esopus, N. Y., Sept. 9 .- Alton B. Parker Thursday received pledges of loyal support from editors of more than 200 Democratic newspapers representing chiefly the Middle West and The editors came in a special train from New York to Hyde Park, crossing thence in the excursion steamer St. John's, on which they afterwards had luncheon and returned to New York. The speeches were delivered at the edges of the Rosemount

After the speeches an informal reception was held. The weather was perfect, though warm, until just as the boat was leaving, when the wind shifted from a gentle southwest breeze to a northwesterly gale, the temperature took a sudden drop, and one of the sharpest thunder storms of the season swept down the valley. Upon the arrival of the boat the editors marched up to Rosemount, headed by the Seventh New York regiment band, which played "Hail to the Chief" as they reached the house. Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., introduced Charles W. Knapp of St. Louis, as spokesman for the editors. Mr. Knapp was warmly applauded as he rose, and facing Mr. Parker, delivered his address. Mr. Knapp pledged to Judge Parker the support of the papers whose editors he represented, and he said the editors were inspired anew by the attitude of their candidate. It was some time before the applause following Mr. Knapp's speech subsided enough for Mr. Parker to make his reply. Judge Parker criticised the present national administration and compared recent Republican rule with that of President Cleveland, to the disadvantage of the former, from his point of

And Had Left the Bank Only a Moment When he Found he Had Lost Roll

William Robbins, a well known resident of Deerwood, had a peculiar incident happen him this noon which is not relished very much ordinarily.

He stepped into the N. P. bank to get a hundred dollar check cashed and he was paid over the amount in bills. He rolled the bills up and says that he put the money in his pocket. He stepped outside and had not gone but a short distance when he discovered that he was minus the roll. The disappearance of the money happened so quickly that it bewildered Mr. Robbins and for the life of him he cannot account for it in any way. He says that he is willing to pay a suitable reward if the money is returned.

"A FRIEND OF THE FAMILY."

William E. Gorman's clever farcical success, "A Friend of the Family" which comes to the Brainerd Opera House next Tuesday, Sept. 13 is singularly free from forms of clap-trap and horse play. Its plot is interesting and the situations not overdrawn. The lines are crisp and bright. The action revolves about Bartley Swift, a young importer of Japanese silks, and his efforts to conceal a former love affair from a jealous wife. The first flame comes when Nancey Noyes his former sweetheart arrives on a business trip to the family, Declares the Diet Has Cured Him of Several Ailments - He Has Enten Nothing Else For Months - Other Foods Do Not Tempt Him-Will Eat Nothing but Grass.

That a person can live on grass and cold water and be well and hearty seems to have been proved by Eusebio York World, For more than six months Santos has been living on this diet, and he says he is steadily gaining flesh. Santos' friends say he has refused all tempting dishes set before

Before taking to the grass and waas any one. He eats three or four meals a day, two quarts of grass being his usual allowance at each meal. Santos is twenty-five years old. He weighs about 140 pounds. He was born in Laredo, Spain, and for many years lived in Cuba. Prior to coming to the United States, several months ago, he was employed in Havana as a clerk. He speaks several languages.

He has been getting his supply of grass from Sunset park, South Brooklyn, and from Prospect park. He is rather particular about the kind he gets. He says some grass is bitter, some salty, some sour, some peppery and some sweet. The sweet grass, he says, is very nourishing and leaves a pleasant taste in the mouth, so he prefers it. Santos is fond of flowers of all kinds, and for a relish he at times adds them to his grass diet.

Santos began eating grass about a year and a half ago, in Cuba. He was then troubled with severe headache and other disorders and it was impossible, he says, for him to sleep. He consulted a physician, who advised him to starve himself and at times to chew a little grass. Santos says he followed this advice and soon cultivated the taste for it. He ate it with sweet potatoes at first, then gave up potatoes.

Santos gathers his food in the morning. He uses no knife or scissors, but has a trick of breaking it off with his hands that enables him to fill a bag quickly without pulling up roots.

When a reporter called at his home the other night he was beginning to eat his evening meal. While others were enjoying a hearty supper he was quietly eating grass. He ate a large "If a person only knew the good that

If people would take to eating it I feel convinced their lives would be prolonged for many years. Of course I can eat all kinds of grass, but I prefer the sweet grass because it is more pleasant. I do not pepper or salt it, but eat it just as I pull it up.

"I much prefer to go to Sunset park or Prespect park, for the grass there is much cleaner. Each day I gather a supply large enough to last me for three or four meals. I always like to gather and eat the grass when the dew has fallen on it, for then I do not have to drink water with it.

"One would be surprised to find how even the temperature of a person's body is kept by living on grass and cold water. When winter sets in I intend going south in order that I may continue to live on my diet. I will never eat anything else as long as I Think what this means. Imagine the amount of misery that exists and is endured simply because people do not know there is an absolute cure.

The only way to cure any complaint is to remove the cause. There are very few diseases or ailments that can be cured by external application-and piles is not one of them. Piles can be cured; the treatment must, however, be internal, for the cause of piles is an internal disorder of the liver or the bowels. Even catarrh of the stomach and bowels can be cured by Dr. Perrin's PILE SPECIFIC, The Internal Remedy. Here is an instance of what this practically infallible remedy will do:

GRASS HIS DAILY MEAL

Eusebio Santos Says He Finds It Good to Live On.

THE PARKS SUPPLY HIS FOOD.

Declares the Diet Has Cured Him of Several Ailments - He Has Eaten Nothing Else For Months - Other Foods Do Not Tempt Him-Will Eat Nothing but Grass.

That a person can live on grass and cold water and be well and hearty seems to have been proved by Eusebio Santos of Brooklyn, says the New York World, For more than six months Santos has been living on this diet, and he says he is steadily gaining flesh. Santos' friends say he has refused all tempting dishes set before him in that time.

Before taking to the grass and water diet Santos was a nervous wreck, he says, and that now he is as healthy as any one. He eats three or four meals a day, two quarts of grass being his usual allowance at each meal. Santos is twenty-five years old. He weighs about 140 pounds. He was born in Laredo, Spain, and for many years lived in Cuba. Prior to coming to the United States, several months ago, he was employed in Havana as a clerk. He speaks several languages. He has been getting his supply of grass from Sunset park, South Brooklyn, and from Prospect park. He is rather particular about the kind he gets. He says some grass is bitter, some salty, some sour, some peppery and some sweet. The sweet grass, he says, is very nourishing and leaves a pleasant taste in the mouth, so he prefers it. Santos is fond of flowers of all kinds, and for a relish he at times adds them to his grass diet.

Santos began eating grass about a year and a half ago, in Cuba. He was then troubled with severe headache and other disorders and it was impossible, he says, for him to sleep. He consulted a physician, who advised him to starve himself and at times to chew a little grass. Santos says he followed this advice and soon cultivat-* ed the taste for it. He ate it with sweet potatoes at first, then gave up

Santos gathers his food in the morning. He uses no knife or scissors, but has a trick of breaking it off with his hands that enables him to fill a bag quickly without pulling up roots.

When a reporter called at his home the other night he was beginning to eat his evening meal. While others were enjoying a hearty supper he was quietly eating grass. He ate a large dishful.

"If a person only knew the good that they could get from eating grass," he said, "he would never eat anything else. It is most nourishing and delicious. If people would take to eating it I feel convinced their lives would be prolonged for many years. Of course I can eat all kinds of grass, but I prefer the sweet grass because it is more pleasant. I do not pepper or salt it, but eat it just as I pull it up.

"I much prefer to go to Sunset park or Prespect park, for the grass there is much cleaner. Each day I gather a supply large enough to last me for three or four meals. I always like to gather and eat the grass when the dew has fallen on it, for then I do not have to drink water with it.

"One would be surprised to find how even the temperature of a person's body is kept by living on grass and cold water. When winter sets in I intend going south in order that I may continue to live on my diet. I will never eat anything else as long as I

Jap Picture Cards of the War.

The picture post card is a never failing source of delight to many thousands, though it adds another terror to travel if the traveler have many collectors on his list of friends. But great interest will be created even among those who have not yet succumbed to the mania by the announcement in a Japanese paper that the authorities of the empire intend to issue pictorial post cards "as souvenirs of the war." The intimation is added that "the cards will be first distributed among the officers and men at the front, and the remainder, if any, will be sold to the public."

What the Little Jap Teaches.

The little Jap he pegs away Night after night, day after day; He's always going right ahead-That's why so many Slavs are dead. He doesn't stop to rest or sleep, But, though the roads are rough and steep And foe begirt, still day by day The little Jap he pegs away.

The little Jap he doesn't talk Nor diagram with pen or chalk. He doesn't tedlously explain How certain forts his men will gain. Instead he saves his breath and strength To shout with when he shall at length Have felled the grisly giant's stalk-The little Jap he doesn't talk.

The little Jap he doesn't brag He doesn't gloat o'er fallen foe Until that foe is lying low. He doesn't tell the world his plans, But marshals silently his clans And scraps with vim that cannot lag-The little Jap he doesn't brag.

The little Jap he doesn't wait And sit around and rail at fate. Instead he tackles with a vim Whatever's in the way of him. He doesn't soak in jagful juice. He knows such things aren't any use. He's busy early, busy late-The little Jap he doesn't wait. The little Jap thus teaches you-

And teaches other people, too-That 'tisn't wise to jag or brag Or mouth the masticative rag Or wait or murmur or complain, But just to work, come sun or rain; Less theorizing, more of do, The little Jap man teaches you. -Baltimore American.

even the temperature of a person's body is kept by living on grass and cold water. When winter sets in I intend going south in order that I may continue to live on my diet. I will never eat anything else as long as I

Jap Picture Cards of the War.

The picture post card is a never failing source of delight to many thousands, though it adds another terror to travel if the traveler have many collectors on his list of friends. But great interest will be created even among those who have not yet succumbed to the mania by the announcement in a Japanese paper that the authorities of the empire intend to issue pictorial post cards "as souvenirs of the war." The intimation is added that "the cards will be first distributed among the officers and men at the front, and the remainder, if any, will be sold to the public."

What the Little Jap Teaches. The little Jap he pegs away

Night after night, day after day; He's always going right ahead-That's why so many Slavs are dead. He doesn't stop to rest or sleep, And foe begirt, still day by day The little Jap he pegs away.

The little Jap he doesn't talk Nor diagram with pen or chalk. He doesn't tediously explain How certain forts his men will gain Instead he saves his breath and strength To shout with when he thall at length Have felled the grisly giant's stalk-The little Jap he doesn't talk.

The little Jap he doesn't brag Or madly masticate the rag. He doesn't gloat o'er fallen foe Until that foe is lying low. He doesn't tell the world his plans, But marshals silently his clans And scraps with vim that cannot lag-The little Jap he doesn't brag.

The little Jap he doesn't wait And sit around and rail at fate. Instead he tackles with a vim Whatever's in the way of him. He doesn't soak in jagful juice. He knows such things aren't any use. He's busy early, busy late-The little Jap he doesn't wait

And teaches other people, too-That 'tisn't wise to jag or brag Or mouth the masticative rag Or wait or murmur or complain, But just to work, come sun or rain; Less theorizing, more of do. The little Jap man teaches you.
